Match rules

LOBBY HOSTING	The Home team (as denoted on LeagueOS) will host the lobby.
TEAM SELECTION	Players may select any current NBA team excluding Classic, All Time, or other alternative teams. Players may select mirror teams and are allowed to change teams between games in the series.

MATCH SETTINGS

All singles matches will be played using the following mode and settings:

- Mode: Quickplay 1v1
- Game Style: Superstar
- Quarter Length: 5 minutes

ARENA SELECTION

The game will be played on the default arena for the home team.

SCORE REPORTING

Scores will be reported on the match page on LeagueOS. A score should be reported for each game that is played and a winner selected via the checkbox. Both teams are responsible for ensuring that the scores are reported correctly. It is recommended that teams take a screenshot of the final score screen for each game and upload to LeagueOS for verification.

DISCONNECTS

Player disconnects will be handled on a case by case basis by IEN tournament staff.

Standings and playoffs

STANDINGS

Overall stage standings will be calculated using the following metrics (in order for tiebreaks):

1. Points (Each team receives 2 points for a match win (including BYE wins), -2 points for a forfeit)
2. Strength of Schedule (Based on opponents wins)
3. Score Differential

PLAYOFF STRUCTURE

The top 4 players, as identified by the standings on LeagueOS (as calculated via the above metrics) will be invited to participate live in-person at Gainbridge Fieldhouse on Saturday, January 30, 2027. The semifinals and finals will follow the same regular season match format and consist of a Best-of-one (Bo1) in a single elimination bracket.
